User Stories

- As a student, I want to find restaurant choices where I can hang out with my friends at, so that we can have good food and play board games together.
- As a businessperson, I want to look for appropriate places where I can set up social engagements with some partners, so that I can make new business connections.
- As Fatima, I want to find restaurants that others with similar tastes have liked so that I can take my family out to eat tonight.
- As Bill, I want to use filters to find specific types of restaurants so that I can read the best reviews by trusted users and save a list of places I want to go.
- As a tourist, I want to experience the local customs by searching for local restaurants.
- As a restaurant owner, I want to know what customers like about other restaurants so that I can improve my own food.
- As Bobby, I want to see delivery information about a restaurant so that I know where I can deliver from and how I can do so.
- As a researcher, I want to see trends across time in order to draw correlations between various cultural phenomena and restaurant owner/patron behavior.
